Course Learning Objectives (mapped to EFIC Core Curriculum Pain Medicine):

This course aims to develop skills of assessing and treating pain related to cancer and its treatment and in those surviving cancer. This interactive course format develops an evidence-based approach to assessment, and formulating diagnosis and designing a comprehensive holistic plan including pain management. The emphasis is on a multidisciplinary approach to managing pain related to cancer. Learning objectives of this course are in line with EFIC Core Curriculum for managing pain related to cancer as below.

- Identify sociocultural influences on the experience of cancer and cancer-related pain.
- Be able to compare and contrast the assessment and management of persons with cancer related pain and those with chronic non-cancer pain.
- Recognise the problems faced by cancer survivors who have persistent pain and management principles.
- Discuss the meaning and significance of the World Health Organisation analgesic algorithm for pain in cancer.
- Show awareness of and addressing unpleasant end-of-life symptoms including but not limited to, pain, nausea/vomiting, respiratory distress and itch.
- Recognise the essential role of close liaison with other teams, specifically from oncology, radiation oncology, neurosurgery, anaesthesia and palliative medicine.
- Define and distinguish between incident and incompletely relieved persistent pain.
- Discuss the role of cancer therapies in the management of cancer-related pain, including but not limited to: Radiotherapy, Radiopharmaceuticals, Chemotherapy, Immune therapy and Surgery.
- Discuss the use of other adjuvant analgesics in cancer pain including but not limited to: bisphosphonates, corticosteroids and ketamine.
- Role of various interventional pain-relieving techniques including nerve blocks, intrathecal pumps, neuromodulation, neuroablation and High intensity focused ultrasound.

There will be ample opportunity to interact with course faculty throughout the course

EUROPEAN PAIN FEDERATION EFIC®

EFIC® was founded in 1993 and meanwhile represents 36 national pain societies in Europe that have been chartered by the International Association for the Study of Pain (IASP®).

Aims: In general, EFIC® is organised to promote multidisciplinary research, education and management of pain. The specific aim is to create a forum for European collaboration on pain issues and to encourage communication at a European level between EFIC® member societies and also with other bodies interested and involved in the fields of pain research and pain therapy, such as European, regional or national societies or federations of medical specialities (anaesthesiology, neurology, headache, palliative care, etc.), institutions of the European Community, European and national educators, legislators and health care providers.

Constitution: The affairs of EFIC® are conducted by its Council, which consists of the President or the councillor of each EFIC® member pain society and 5 elected officers who form the Executive Board of EFIC®. The Council meets at least once a year, while the Executive Board manages affairs between Council meetings. EFIC® is being established as a charitable foundation in Belgium.

BRIEF HISTORY OF LOCAL PAIN SERVICE

The Pain Clinic at The Walton Centre NHS Foundation Trust (<https://www.thewaltoncentre.nhs.uk/departments-and-services/pain-medicine/416956>) is one of the largest in the UK. The clinic's founder and director for 30 years, was the late Dr Sam Lipton, who pioneered many pain-relieving techniques.

The Pain Research Institute set up in 1986 by Sam Lipton to work alongside the Walton Pain Clinic. The key academic staffs are Senior Clinical Lecturer Dr Marshall and Senior Lecturer Dr Andreas Goebel. The Pain Relief Foundation (<http://www.painreliefoundation.org.uk>) financially supports the Research Institute.

The Walton Centre (<https://www.thewaltoncentre.nhs.uk/>) is a Neurological Hospital with a regional multidisciplinary pain unit. Drs Manohar Sharma and Kate Marley now lead cancer related pain service. The Walton Pain Clinic was set up in the 1960s and currently has eleven consultants, including pain physicians, neurosurgeons and psychologists, providing a service for the Northwest of England, but also accepting national referrals for complex pain treatments. Pain service has strong collaboration with palliative medicine, spinal surgery, neurology, urology and gynaecology delivering many specialised pain-relieving treatments and multicentre research trials.

Woodlands Hospice Charitable Trust opened in 1993 (<http://www.woodlandshospice.org>). It provides specialist palliative care for inpatients and outpatients. Its first medical director, Dr Ged Corcoran, established a joint pain/palliative care service with Dr Tim Nash, consultant pain physician at The Walton Centre.
